Thank you for referring yourself or a student to our counselling services at Tupou Tertiary Institute. Please note we are a confidential service, which means we do not share your information and any of your life experiences with staff, with students or with your family. The only times we will need to consult and share information with one another as counsellors or if needing to seek more specific advice from other trained professionals is when there is harm. The three harms we work by is if you are hurting yourself, someone is hurting you or if you are hurting someone else. We can discuss this at length once we meet with you to inform you of what our responsibilities are to your welfare. We acknowledge the courage it takes to seek out the help you need. Thank you for trusting this space and we will work to ensure it is as safe and helpful to you and your journey.

We will follow up with you regarding an appointment date and time.
